PART I.

1. Year's work and office routine.—(a) Rupees 2,01,353-5-8 have been spent in this circle on conservation work during the year as against Rs. 2,19,865-0-4 in 1913-14. Of this sum Rs. 63,853-6-1 were expended in the United Provinces, Rs. 50,895-9-11 in the Punjab, Rs. 85,019 in the Province of Delhi, and Rs. 1,585-5-8 in Ajmer (Appendix A).

(b) The services of Mr. Gordon Sanderson, who has held continuously the appointment of Superintendent, Muhammadan and British Monuments, since December 7th, 1910, having been temporarily transferred to the Indian Army Department with effect from the afternoon of February 16th, 1915, the charge of this office was made over to the Assistant Superintendent, Maulvi Zafar Hasan. On the 24th of May 1915, under Notification No. 153, Government of India, dated May 7th, 1915, I assumed charge of the office of Superintendent, Muhammadan and British Monuments, which I now hold in addition to my own duties of Superintendent, Hindu and Buddhist Monuments. To me, therefore, has fallen the duty of preparing this report. Compiled as it has necessarily been from records of estimates and files, it cannot but lack that vivacity and interest which, born of the most intimate knowledge of the monuments and their requirements, characterized the reports of the permanent incumbent. Nevertheless this plain statement of facts is a record of steady progress and a clear proof that Muhammadan and British Monuments have been carefully and continuously surveyed and conserved.

(c) Maulvi Zafar Hasan, B.A., was appointed as Assistant to the Superintendent, Muhammadan and British Monuments, on June 17th, 1913, for one year for the purpose of expediting the preparation of the list of the ancient monuments of Delhi. The request for an extension of his services mentioned in the last report has been acceded to by the Government of India who have, in their No. 316, dated July 31st, 1914, sanctioned permanently the appointment which has been held by Maulvi Zafar Hasan, with effect from the date of the expiry of his temporary appointment. They have also, in consultation with the Director-General of Archaeology, directed that this officer shall in future be designated as Assistant Superintendent, Archaeological Survey, and that he shall be required to prepare lists of ancient monuments in other parts of India after he has completed the work of listing such monuments in the Northern Circle. As a temporary measure he has accordingly been attached to this office with headquarters at Delhi.

(d) During the year 457 photographic negatives have been obtained, 100 by the Head Photographer, the remainder by the Assistant Draftsman and Photographer (Appendix B). In the same period the Head Draftsman prepared the 17 drawings detailed in Appendix C.

(e) Inscriptions numbering 189 were collected in the Delhi, Multan, Rohtak, Mainpuri, Aligarh, Montgomery and Bulandshahr districts. It will be necessary to observe, in future, some restraint in the collecting and recording of these inscriptions. Every inscription met with is not worthy of record, and unless of very real historical or special interest, inscriptions subsequent to 1800 A.D. might well be omitted as also most earlier inscriptions on graves of persons unknown to history. Long lists containing much matter of no special interest cannot but prove wearisome, and matter of real value, hidden in the midst of trivialities, is likely to be overlooked. For this reason 21 inscriptions, which appear in the office register, have been omitted from Appendix D.

(f) The long and meritorious services of the Head Clerk, Pandit Balgovind Dikshit, have received recognition, and his pay has been raised from Rs. 55 to Rs. 80 per mensem. Two peons have been appointed for the Delhi office of the Assistant Superintendent. The following members of the staff took leave during the year:—

(b) Babu Mata Pershad Varma, Assistant Clerk, two months, from 22nd January 1915.

The services of Babu Muhammad Husain, Assistant Draftsman, were placed temporarily at the disposal of the Director-General of Archaeology from the 23rd March to the 11th May 1915.

(g) On the 6th February 1915, the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan presented, at a ceremony at Sikandra, to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor for use at the tomb of Akbar the following :—

(i) A heavy chaddar of royal blue with gold embroidered fringe, the two end panels bearing the words "Allahu Akbar" and "Jalla Jalaluhu." The ornamental border is based upon a design found in the tomb itself. A short inscription embroidered on one corner records the name of the donor and date. The chaddar was prepared at Delhi under the supervision of the Assistant Superintendent at a cost of Rs. 760-2-0 The chaddar is intended for occasional use only (1).

(ii) A lamp similar in design to that presented by Lord Curzon for use at the Taj Mahal at Agra. The lamp is of brass and was made at the School of Art, Jaipur, at a cost of Rs. 229-8-0. Interlaced with the pierced design round the central portion of the lamp is an inscription giving the name of the donor and the date.

The lamp replaces that presented by the Government of the United Provinces two years ago and which has been transferred to the entrance hall. The generosity of the Maharajadhiraja of Burdwan has not been limited to these gifts, for he has, moreover, also offered Rs. 1,500 to defray part of the cost of restoring the eastern false gateway at Sikandarah.

(h) Expenditure on the monuments of Bayana and Ajmer has been included in this publication but these monuments having now been transferred to the Western Circle Archaeological Survey, will no longer find a place in this report.

(2) List of drawings of Archaeological Buildings in the office of the Superintendent, Muhammadan and British Monuments, Northern Circle, Agra, and in the offices of the Executive Engineers, Public Works Department, United Provinces, &c.

6. Compilation of lists of ancient monuments.—Listing of monuments has been carried out in the Delhi zail of the new Province and 248 monuments have been surveyed, including 65 mosques, 78 tombs, 44 graves, 8 temples and 53 miscellaneous buildings. As the area dealt with includes a number of the old cities of Delhi, the monuments are for the most part of real archaeological and architectural interest. Few photographs of these monuments have been obtained but 169 inscriptions in direct connection with them have been recorded including, a considerable number which have hitherto been unnoticed. The survey of the Delhi zail is now almost complete and the monuments of another zail will shortly be similarly listed.

A second proof of the List of Delhi Monuments (Shahjahanabad) has been received from the press and the publication should be issued shortly.

7. Admission fees at historical sites.—(i) The total receipts on account of fees levied for admission into the historical buildings at the Delhi Fort, during the year 1914-15 amounted to Rs. 2,856-12-0, compared with Rs. 5,590 in the previous year. This decrease is no indication of waning popularity, but the result of the necessary closing of the Fort to the public since the 8th August 1914. The following statement shows the monthly receipts :—

	Rs.	a.	p.
April 1914	732	4	0
May „	549	12	0
June „	740	14	0
July „	552	12	0
August „	281	2	0
September 1914 to March 1915	Nil.

(ii) In April 1914, the Superintendent addressed the Government of the United Provinces recommending the levying of a similar fee at the Agra Fort but the proposal sanctioned so limited the admission fee that the local authorities feared the sum realized would not cover the cost of collection and the matter has been dropped.

9. Monuments proposed for protection. Recommendations have been made to Government with regard to the following monuments :—

(c) Muhammadan monuments at Rapri, Mainpuri district.
(f) Bari Khwabgah, Lahore Fort.
(g) Asaf Khan's tomb, Lahore.
(h) Diwan-i-Amm, Lahore Fort.
(i) Roman Catholic Chapel, Lahore Fort.
(j) Muhammadan monuments at Lahore.
(k) Shalamar Garden, Lahore.
(m) Monuments at Chunar.
(n) Muhammadan Monuments at Meerut.
(o) Tomb of Khwaja Khizr at Sonepat.
(p) Monuments at Jagner, Agra district.
(r) Tunnel on the Ridge at Hindu Rao's House, Delhi.

Conservation notes have been drawn up for all the monuments detailed above.

10. Museums. Taj Museum at Agra.

List of exhibits acquired for the Taj Museum at Agra, during the year 1914-15.

(1) Four photographs of the tomb of Nur Jahan at Lahore, presented by the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja of Burdwan.
(2) One poison plate (Ghori) purchased from Lala Babu Lal of Agra for Rs. 40.
(3) One farman of the reign of Shah Alam II, dated 4th Jamada I 1766-67 A. D. in the 7th year of the reign of Shah Alam II. It is beautifully written and bears the royal seal and tughra. The farman refers to a grant of land to one Saiyid Muhammad Ali Azam Khan in pargana Amroha, Sarkar Sambhal Province Dar-ul-khilafat Shahjahanabad. It is well preserved and was purchased for Rs. 50 granted by the Director-General of Archaeology in India.

At the instance of the Director-General of Archaeology in India, the Government of the United Provinces in the Industries Department have been pleased to sanction a grant of Rs. 50 for various purchases connected with the upkeep of the Taj Museum at Agra. This sum was expended on the provision of furniture and materials for dusting and preserving the exhibits.

Delhi Museum of Archaeology.

The following exhibits have been acquired for the Delhi Museum of Archaeology in the course of the year 1914-15 :—

(a) Purchased.

Purchased from Lala Alopi Pershad of Delhi.

	Rs.
(1) Four ghoris (poison plates)	600
(2) Farman of Muhammad Shah	75
(3) Four pieces of brass swings	150

Purchased from Ikram Ali Khan.

(4) One large china tray	60
(5) One small china tray	40
(6) One ghori	20
(7) One vase	20
(8) One vase	20

Purchased from Mirza Farrukh.

(9) One copy of Masnavi of Maulana Rum (10) One copy of Bostan ... (11) One copy of Diwan-i-Hafiz ... }	300
(12) One group of nine portraits	50

Purchased from Maulvi Zafar Hassan.

(13) One copy of Qiranu-s-Sadain	60

(14) One sword, presented by Mr. M. A. H. Haqqani through the Chief Commissioner, Delhi.
(15) Four Mir Farsh, presented by Miran Bakhsh and Nur Muhammad.
(16) One portrait of Fateh Ali Shah of Persia, presented by Lala Mulchand, Mukhtar of Sardhana, through the Collector of Meerut.
(17) One copper seal of Zain Khan, presented by Major H. C. Beadon, I. A., Deputy Commissioner, Delhi.
(18) Eleven photographs relating to old Delhi, presented by the Hon'ble Mr. W. M. Hailey, C.I.E., Chief Commissioner, Delhi.

(c) Loan collection.

(19) One qalamdan, on loan from Sir Harcourt Butler, K.C.S.I., C.I.E., I.C.S.
(20) One picture of the Qutb Minar, on loan from Major H. C. Beadon, I. A., Deputy Commissioner, Delhi.

(21) Two swords found buried in Alau-d-Din's college.
(22) One inscribed stone brought by the Assistant Superintendent, Muhammadan and British Monuments, from a ruined shrine near the Purana Qila at Delhi. The inscription is in Persian nastaliq containing 18 lines, and records the erection of a temple in A. H. 1245 (1830 A. D.) in the reign of Akbar II.
(23) One camel gun brought from Delhi Fort Armament.
(24 to 26) Found nine feet below the surface in Hamilton Road—
- (a) One chased copper bowl and lid.
- (b) Two copper plates.
- (c) One copper lid.

(27) Twenty round shots found near the Kashmiri Gate.
(28 to 35) Found in the excavation at Purana Qila—
- (a) Three swords.
- (b) One broken sword.
- (c) Three handles of swords.
- (d) Three bayonets.
- (e) Three iron bullets.
- (f) Three broken images.
- (g) Two broken fragments of elephant.
- (h) One red stone elephant.

(36) One erthen vessel found at Kotila Firoz Shah near Delhi.
(37) One stone post belonging to Firozabad well railing
(38) Three stoals (one of copper and two of stone).

11. Programme for 1915-16.—As this office has to be carried on in conjunction with my own and as it naturally, but unfortunately, happens that ancient Hindu and Muhammadan buildings rarely exist in the same place it is not easy to arrange so far ahead to visit any particular monuments save those in centres like Agra, Delhi, Lucknow and Jaunpur, but every opportunity will be seized of inspecting as many of the monuments as possible, and particularly those undergoing special repairs. Inspection will, however, be made in August and September at Agra, Delhi, Lucknow, Benares and Lahore. January has been assigned to the Hindu monuments of the Jhansi district but February and March have been specially reserved for Muhammadan monuments.

With the approval of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner of Delhi, the Assistant Superintendent will devote himself to the listing of the monuments of the Delhi Province outside Shahjahanabad, dealing particularly with the historical and epigraphical matter so that Mr. Sanderson will have only the architectural description of each to add.

PART II.

CONSERVATION.

United Provinces.

1. AGRA.—Of the sanctioned estimate for Rs. 13,263 only Rs. 6,263 have been expended on the improvements to the Jami Masjid in erecting the arcades on the east and south sides. Some delay has been caused by the shopkeepers on the north side interfering with the operations which have been approved by the Islam Committee. The matter has been referred to the Collector of Agra. The work is still in progress. On the provision of a piped connection between the Military Swimming Bath and the Diwan-i-Amm, the sum of Rs. 354 was spent during the year and the work has been completed at a total cost of Rs. 1,477. The replacing of the broken marble beams in the roof of Sheikh Salim Chishti's tomb at Fathpur-Sikri and special repairs to the Khanqah attached to the Dargah and to the Dargah building itself at Fathpur-Sikri have been carried out at a total cost of Rs. 2,489 which has been met by Dargah funds. A much needed work, the conversion of a room in the north-west of the Anguri Bagh in the Agra Fort into a lavatory for European visitors, has been completed at cost of Rs. 139.

The restoration of the causeway leading from the east false gateway to the tomb of Akbar at Sikandarah, for which Rs. 44,417 was sanctioned and on which Rs. 9,407 was spent last year, has made but little progress, only Rs. 243 being expended during 1914-15. About one-fifth of the whole causeway has now been restored and the work will be continued as funds become available. The well to the south-west of Akbar's tomb has been brought into use for irrigating the plantation and protected by a cover of wire netting at a cost of Rs. 133. The conservation of Mariam's tomb at Sikandarah has been continued, the erection of an outhouse with rooms for the mali and chaukidar, the repair of the inner walls, and the restoration of the stone work of the plinth being the principal items of expenditure. Of the sanctioned items still left unexecuted there remains only the turfing of the area around the tomb which is deferred pending the arrangement of a special grant for maintenance. The replacing of the missing inlay work at the tomb of Itimadu-d-daulah dealt with in the last report has now been completed at a total cost of Rs. 4,005, the entire work being carried out by Public Works departmental labour. At the Roman Catholic Cemetery two tablets were erected in the Martyrs' Chapel recording the names of those buried therein while a third was set in the floor of an arched recess in memory of Khwaja Mortenepus. The chaukidar's hut has also been rebuilt. Besides the special repairs detailed above the sum of Rs. 14,320 was expended on annual repairs, establishment, roads and miscellaneous conservation at the Agra Fort, Taj Mahal, and historical buildings at Fathpur-Sikri, Sikandarah, the tomb of Itimadu-d-Daulah, Ram Bagh, Chini-ka-Rauza, the ROMAN CATHOLIC CEMETERY and Jaswant Singh-ki-Chattri.

It is to be regretted that on the night of 14th December 1914, serious damage to the inlay work on the throne of the Diwan-i-Amm in the Agra Fort was committed by some unknown person. Common report attributes it to British soldiers but it is usual to lay the blame on soldiers stationed in the Fort and there is no evidence to support this rumour. The buildings are kept locked but the damaged portion of the throne is accessible from the Diwan-i-Amm itself which is open at night to any one stationed in the Fort. To prevent such occurrences in future the Local Government has, at the suggestion of the Superintendent, instructed the Superintending, Engineer, Meerut, to arrange for the appointment of a chaukidar to look after the Diwan-i-Amm.

2. CHUNAR.—Conservation which is still in progress at the TOMB OF IFTIKHAR KHAN has been carried out at a cost of Rs. 1,697, and included restoration of broken chajjas, brackets and lintels, removal of vegetation and the clearance of the immediate surroundings.

3. JAUNPUR.—The following works have been carried to completion during the year 1914-15 in this district :—

Conservation of ancient buildings at Jaunpur and acquiring and dismantling a house abutting on the RAUZA FIROZ SHAH in muhalla Baloch Tola. The estimated amounts for these works were Rs. 3,714 and Rs. 142 respectively. Annual repairs at a cost of Rs. 616-10-9 were executed at Atala Masjid, Jami Masjid, Lal Darwaza Masjid, Rauza Firoz Shah, Tomb of Ghazi Khan, Jahangiri Masjid, Tomb of Zaman Khan (Fort) and the old bridge over the Gumti and British Monuments. Certain special works at a cost of Rs. 163-5-7 were also carried out.

4. BENARES.—A portion of the boundary wall of the closed cemetery was rebuilt and copper wire was provided for the lightning conductor at Aurangzeb's Mosque at a cost of Rs. 275; other annual repairs to historical monuments cost in all Rs. 228.

5. GHAZIPUR.—Rupees 368 were expended on the TOMB OF LORD CORNWALLIS and Rs. 24 on the closed British cemetery and a tomb between miles 20-21 on the Benares road.

6. HARDOI.—Conservation has been limited to the MAQBARA OF NAWAB DILER KHAN at Shahabad. General repairs have been carried out to the brick work and plaster, kankar has been collected for repairs to facing, vegetation has been removed from the masonry and the monument is reported to be generally clean and protected from further decay.

7. KHERI.—The turfing and making of a mud wall round the compound of the British monument at Aurangabad, together with the annual repairs, was carried out at a total cost of Rs. 278-15-0.

8. LUCKNOW.—Special repairs at the KOTHI (now the post office) cost Rs. 8,166 while Rs. 550 was spent on the annual repairs to the same monument. The conservation of the NANDAN MAHAL cost Rs. 2,522, but further improvements, including the laying out of the grounds and wire fencing and gates, are still necessary and will be carried out in 1915-16. In addition to these conservation measures, a sum of Rs. 12,800 was expended on the numerous historical buildings at Lucknow for details of which see Appendix A.

Delhi Province.

(i) At the DELHI FORT improvements have been effected at the HAYAT BAKHSH GARDEN, the earthwork of the old battery has been removed, and two pairs of copper plated doors have been provided for the Mughal rooms. One pair has been paid for, the second has arrived and been fixed. The quoted price was Rs. 800 per pair but owing to various additional charges made by the Principal of the School of Art, Jaipur, a revised estimate has been rendered necessary.

(ii) WAZIRABAD.—On account of inefficient drainage part of the outer retaining wall on the north-west side of the mosque was undermined and collapsed. This has been repaired and drain outlets have been provided to carry the water into the Najafgarh drain. The conservation of the mosque and gateway has now been completed and the bathing chamber in the bridge opened out and the earth removed from the walls exposing the sluices and other architectural features.

(iii) QUTB.—In addition to the annual repairs at this site a piece of land has been acquired near Wafati Shah's Mosque for the extension of the grounds, arrangements have been made for the necessary extra water supply and, in order to enable the visitors ascending the Minar to realize the line of the old walls of the "First city of Delhi" rail boundary posts have been erected on the walls of Lal Kot and Rai Pithora. A number of capitals and bases have been collected from the adjoining fields, a wall has been erected between the Mughal Sarai and the Alai Minar, and the Baradari for the use of visitors to the Qutb completed. A number of other interesting works have been carried out at the QUTB under the supervision of Mr. A. E. P. Griessen to whom I am indebted for the following report:—

"In continuation of the works carried out during 1913-14, the original scheme of reclaiming some of the buildings was completed. In addition to the estimates providing for the upkeep of the grounds, a group of estimates aggregating Rs. 16,634 was sanctioned.

MOSQUE.—The works in connection with the digging out of the original plinth were completed, also the boxing within masonry walls of the eastern and southern gates with flights of steps for access. The bridge that was to span the ditch exposing the plinth of the eastern gate to give access to the mosque was objected to by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner and steps substituted; the bridge material was subsequently transferred to the Director-General of Archaeology.

ALAU-D-DIN'S GATE.—The work of excavation to trace the foundation level of the eastern gate was completed with success disclosing the original steps which only partly existed in the southern and western gateways and which had been covered up by recently made steps whose rise and tread did not correspond to the original ones discovered. These have enabled the restoration of the southern and western steps to be carried out. As the present floor of the gateway is of a more recent age and higher, it was found necessary to recess an additional step within the flooring to join the original step with the present floor; the only alternative would have been to lower the floor to its original level; but on examination it was found that it would necessitate the underpinning of the bases which are used as seats round the inner portion of the gate. Beside the restoration of the southern and western flight of steps, the space exposed on the east has been paved and a box masonry wall enclosure made to retain the earth of the eastern elevated courtyard. The difference of level was again settled by a flight of steps taking the visitor down to the original level of the gate.

The southern and western grounds have also been reduced to the original plinth level of the gate and a system of paths made to give access to the other buildings.

The southern gate of the southern courtyard of the mosque which no longer afforded an easy connection with the western forecourt of Alau-d-Din's gate was attended to and a flight of steps has been provided.

The question of drainage of the sunken space around the mosque called for immediate attention and an underground drain was accordingly made taking the drainage into the other drain, then in course of construction. These sets of drains have enabled the earthwork to be properly completed and no more scouring is to be apprehended.

ALAU-D-DIN'S TOMB.—The excavation of this interesting place revealed the actual position of Alau-d-Din's tomb. This building was evidently intended as a mausoleum and the finding of another tomb in the western room confirms the assumption. After burial a mehrab was evidently erected judging from the remains which are absent in the eastern room in which no burial was performed.

The restoration to the tombs was scrupulously based on the remains found that determined the outer angles or corners of the perished structure, the present height only exceeding by one foot the actual remains disclosed.

The discovery of the southern gate and of the stair case leading to the roof of the building has brought into view two interesting features of the historical building. All the necessary underpinning was duly attended to; to protect the building from further decay, all partly fallen and unsafe arches have been relieved by new ones and lime pointing of all the walls carried out to secure them. The flight of steps giving access to the roof has been restored to enable visitor to get access to what was originally a portion of the roof from which place a superb view of the site is obtained.

ALAU-D-DIN'S COLLEGE.—The building may be said to have been reclaimed; the excavation disclosed the unknown outer alignment of its wall doorways &c., the few portions of the walls that had disappeared have been restored to the elevated plinth level, which defined the formation of the inner courtyard.

The inner courtyard was duly laid out and the difference of level with the platform on which Alau-d-Din's tomb rests has been settled by two successive tiers or slopes which formation is worked in relation to the side arches which clearly indicate the sloping nature of the original grounds.

It is proposed when funds are available to turf this courtyard and plant shrubberies within the space of the vanished dalans, which will complete one of the most interesting portions of this monument.

The surrounding grounds have not been overlooked; the tremendous amount of debris produced from these excavations was deposited on the east burying up an old decayed graveyard, making a plateau which acts as a foreground to the building and enables the visitors to be taken on the axial line of the mosque gates where a flight of steps enables them to complete the circuit.

The southern and western forecourt have also been laid out retaining as far as possible the natural configuration of the ground.

ALTAMSH'S TOMB.—The southern forecourt was reduced to the plinth level of the tomb which corresponds to the level of the light shafts discovered last year. The tombs that interfered with the work were lowered, so no obstruction now lies in the space.

Later in the year, a special grant was made to clear the northern forecourt of the tomb to the limit of Wafati Shah's Mosque and the land north of the same was acquired which enabled the boundary walls of the Qutb grounds to be brought right up to the Mehrauli road. This enabled the space between the tomb and the road to be lowered and curious to record a pavement of a much later date was found diverting the water from the main fabric. In the process of planting, another dressed stone wall was unearthed just below the Mehrauli boundary wall. It conveys the idea that another important building of the same age may be buried below the present roadway.

NORTHERN MOSQUE.—The land lying north of Altamsh's Tomb, was acquired, and the opening out of the unfinished Minar Mosque prayer chamber was carried out; all the piers have been preserved thus giving an idea of the ambitious building projected, the span of the main arch facing the unfinished minar being exactly twice the width of the present mosque main archway, 42′ instead of 21′. The space at the back was also laid out so as to complete the general scheme.

IN THE SARAI COURTYARD—The Northern gateway which fell in 1913 was partly secured and the outlines of its masonry rebuilt as well as the arches that had fallen. The courtyard was also laid out and turfed.

Other minor works were also carried out such as the alteration to the servants' quarters, drains, necessary pitching of unsafe slopes, &c., but none of these works are of archaeological interest."

(iv) QUTB MINAR.—It has been remarked for some considerable time that the masonry of the third storey of the Qutb Minar has bulged. Mr. Sanderson, who, to see if there has been any movement in this quarter, has examined the Minar every six months since he took over charge of this circle, confidently asserts that there has been none and is of opinion that this displacement has not occurred within the last fifty or even in the last hundred years. A photograph in Carr Stephen's Archaeology of Delhi clearly shows the "bulge," and most people ascending the Minar will have remarked that the masonry newel of the Minar round which the staircase winds appears to have been disturbed. Mr. Sanderson however believes that there is no immediate cause for anxiety provided conditions are normal but as to the effects of a severe earthquake or tornado it is impossible to foretell. The Minar was damaged by lightning in 1368 A. D. and since then there have been several severe earthquake shocks, such as the one in 1803 when the cupola was destroyed. The displacement may have been caused then if, as is very probable, it is not the result of settlement which occurred while the tower was being built due to the work being run up too quickly and the too free use of mortar. The inner core is almost certainly the same as that of the unfinished Minar of Alau-d-Din Khilji which would not be considered as first class masonry nowadays.

Unfortunately the records are silent as to the nature of Major Smith's repairs in 1829, and whether the earthquake of 1803 caused any other damage to the Minar beyond overthrowing the cupola is equally unknown.

In July 1914, Mr. A. Croad, Executive Engineer II Project Division, Delhi, examined the "bulge" in the third storey and reported that the construction of the walls appears to have been of three kinds of masonry, an outer veneer of Agra sandstone slabs to act as bond stones, a hearting of rubble stone masonry, and an inner face of ashlar masonry of Delhi stone. He suggests that the outer veneer has merely come away from the rubble and that, if examined, a space between them would in all probability be found inside. He does not advocate the use of the Fox grouting machine as had been suggested, being of opinion that the pressure of the grout during pumping would tend to displace still further the outer veneer, and considers iron bands would be more feasible and less costly. As there is no sign of crushing on the inside and no flaking away of the stone there appears to be no danger.

In order to ascertain whether there is now any movement 84 small tell-tales of cement have been placed across the joints of the outer face. These have been numbered and dated and their position marked on an elevation of the Minar. Twenty of these tell-tales fell almost immediately due to the difficulty of getting cement to adhere to the stone. Reports are submitted monthly on the condition of those remaining, and it is reassuring to find that up to March 30th, 1915, all the tell-tales remain intact.

(v) The conservation at the PURANA QILA has been confined chiefly to the repairs of the city walls. For details of expenditure see Appendix A.

(vi) FIROZ SHAH'S KOTILA.—Extensive conservation has been undertaken and the pyramidal structure supporting the Asoka column has been rendered structurally sound by underpining and securing the ruined masonry with lime concrete. In some places the debris in the dalans has been removed below the level of the other terrace and water is likely to find its way into them. Arrangements will be made to remedy this. In addition to these measures several important works were carried out at this site under the supervision of Mr. A. E. P. Griessen, Superintendent, Arboricultural Division who has contributed the following note :—

Notes on the various works carried out at KOTILA FIROZ SHAH during 1914-15.

"Early in the year a special estimate amounting to Rs. 2,408 sanctioned by the Superintendent of Works, I Circle, no. 1767, dated 12th August 1914, was provided for fencing in the whole grounds and putting an end to the thoroughfare made in recent years through its grounds.

An average distance of 60 feet has been observed between the citadel wall and the fence, as desired by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner, to admit ultimately of the layout out of this external area. On the river side it was considered safer to erect the wire fencing well above the average river level. This being done the existing depression between the fence and the citadel, in [which water usually collected for a considerable time after the rains, was filled up by partly utilising all the building debris that had accumulated along the citadel wall and the greater portion of the material removed from the previously unknown river side dalans below the mosque. An additional estimate amounting to Rs. 1,160 was subsequently sanctioned, vide Superintendent, Archaeological Department, Northern Circle's No. 1378/76-38, dated 14th November 1914, to complete the clearance of the river side dalans so as to produce enough earth to make up the protective river side platform, which measures over 900 feet in length with an average width of 60 feet at its narrowest points. This is not only a setting to these interesting ruins but a protection from the river.

Last year's monsoon flood however (which was of an abnormal nature) proved that the newly made platform was likely to be submerged some 14 inches. Care was immediately taken not to attempt to dig up the floor of the mosque river side dalans below this possible flood level.

This matter was duly brought to the notice of the Chief Engineer on the occasion of his visit and he suggested the advisability of providing a protective earthen bund along the present wire fencing to prevent any future abnormal erosion of the river to gain access to the wall of the citadel. An estimate for Rs. 915 was duly submitted to the Chief Engineer for the purpose, with this office No. 1699/N. D., dated 22nd December 1914.

A close study of the reclaimed staircases giving access to the river, reveals that originally the river main stream must have been on the citadel side as the staircases go well below the ground level, and the outlet of the Baoli river drain supports the argument.

A further grant of Rs. 2,000 was made by the Superintendent, Archaeological Department, vide his letter No. 1541/76-D., dated the 7th December 1914, to excavate the mosque underground rooms, exposing its original plinth and making a masonry box retaining wall to retain the earth of the main courtyard whose present formation was arrived at from the plinth of the pyramidal building.

In the course of these excavations an underground room was discovered between the mosque and the pyramid; it was duly cleared of all debris that had gained access into it, but no clue as to its utility has been obtained, as both ends of this corridor-like passage end abruptly against the mosque masonry on the south and against the platform of the pyramidal structure on the north. I am still perplexed whether the present formation is correct: it is undoubtedly so on the southern side of the courtyard, but I cannot but feel that the pyramidal building must have been supported on a platform which plinth would correspond to the mosque on the south and the Baoli on the north-west. I think this assumption is supported by the depth of the mosque entrance steps.

For all purposes however I do not hesitate to say that the present formation level of the main courtyard is the happiest solution of this difficult problem, considering that so little actually remains to convey more accurate data.

Another grant of Rs. 928 was then made by the Chief Engineer, Delhi Province, vide his letter No. 453W., dated 9th February 1915 to complete the earthwork in progress and to reclaim the southern mosque courtyard which was quite unknown.

In February last at the request of the Superintendent, Archaeological Department, a list was given of the most urgent works that should be attended to, which were :—

(1) The rebuilding of Baoli river drain and its clearance.
(2) The rebuilding of the mosque northern wall.
(3) The new covered channel to drain the sunken path round the mosque.
(4) The treatment of the mosque upper well platform.

Subsequently at the request of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner an estimate amounting to Rs. 8,172 was framed for all these urgent works as well as for the necessary earthworks connected with the main courtyard and the western courtyard which revealed the concealed gate which was evidently the original main approach to the citadel.

An allotment of Rs. 6,553 was subsequently made, vide Chief Engineer's No. 262A, 311A and 357A, dated 3rd, 16th and 24th March 1915, respectively, for the works in question, which were taken in hand immediately.

The clearance of the Baoli has been a revelation. Its internal system of tanks is not yet quite understood though I think I am correct in believing that there were two entrances to the Baoli from the east and two from the west. It is very strange that the entrances giving access to the two circular rooms over looking the well have no connection with the circular dalans which were approached by a separate staircase (1). It would certainly be interesting when funds are available to restore these entrances as, at present, they convey but a very poor idea of the original access to this interesting place.

The drain between the Baoli has been restored and two manholes provided to dispose of the upper level drainage ; thus the old original drain is being brought into use once more. Some difficulties are however experienced at its outlet into the river and the matter has been brought to the notice of the Chief Engineer who has, I understand, issued orders that a screw shutter be provided to overcome the danger of the river water silting the drain when the river is in flood.

At the mosque, the northern wall, which was out of perpendicular and very unsafe, has been demolished and rebuilt on the lines explained by the Superintendent, Archaeological Department. It will be provided with a Mughal brick parapet to admit of people gaining access to the projecting bastion.

The mosque well platform also was duly investigated and no connection was traceable between its cylinder and the underground rooms as was formerly assumed. An attempt was made to see how far the cylinder had given away, but no traces were found to a depth of 30 feet. The work became very dangerous, and at the Chief Commissioner's instance, the search was abandoned and the old well filled in. The pavement surrounding the well having partly disappeared, all serviceable stones were used to make a drain along its edge, and the central portion is being filled up with debris which will eventually be rammed and top-dressed with bajri. The contour of the well will be reproduced so as to convey an idea of its original diameter ; here again the old drains have been made use of.

WESTERN COURTYARD AND GATE.—This site had always appeared to me to be the probable main entrance to the citadel and in July excavation was made here to test the matter. It is very gratifying to record that the money spent has revealed the suspected gate with its paved approach and side buildings, everything leading one to conclude that it must have been the original main entrance.

The Main courtyard earthwork has also been completed and by judicious supervision it has been possible to complete the central courtyard, where the outlines of the dalans have been traced and excavated to their plinth level. Another interesting paved ramp discovered on the east supports the theory of the elevated courtyard. All plinth levels have now been arrived at, and I consider that it would be money well spent to complete the internal earthwork of the citadel on the lines observed up till now.

Amongst the most pressing repairs which I have reported to the Superintendent of Works are the following :—

(1) The securing of the Baoli outer walls to prevent their further deterioration.
(2) The securing of the riverside facade of the mosque.
(3) The drainage of the southern mosque courtyard.
(4) The securing of the western gateway masonry.
(5) The securing of the western courtyard ruins which clearly indicate that it was originally the main entrance to the citadel".

(vii) The group of historical buildings known as HAUZ KHAS has been the scene of extensive conservation during the current year, Rs. 11,838 having been expended thereon, while land to the value of Rs. 1,660 has been acquired at the same site. The site is extensive and the monuments numerous. The work has been principally the securing of masonry, "edging off" and clearance. While

(1) From an inspection of the Baoli made in April last it seems probable that two upper circular rooms were the places where, by means of pulleys and ropes, water was drawn from the well, in which case these rooms, being used by menials, would appropriately be distinct from the Baoli proper. (H.H.)

much has been done, there still remains a considerable portion requiring attention. Only one corner of the magnificent tank to the west, from which the site takes its name, has been exposed, and it seems hardly possible that the whole can be cleared, but were it done the remains, which are particularly fine, would have an unrivalled setting and be one of the finest sites near the new city. The site has at present a neglected appearance but the necessary clearance will be taken in hand as funds become available. A path is to be made to give easier access to the monuments from the main road to the Qutb.

(viii) At HUMAYUN'S TOMB a portion of the retaining wall on the east side of the gardens which had fallen in the rains was replaced and other minor masonry repairs carried out. The only remaining bastion at Siri has been conserved at a cost of Rs. 239. For other minor works at Tughlaqabad, Nizam-ud-din, and Isa Khan's Tomb, see Appendix A.

Punjab.

(I) HISSAR.—In the previous report an account was given of the excavations at the LAT-KI-MASJID. But little further progress has been made and only Rs. 33-8-0 have been expended on this work. At the Lat-ki-Masjid itself the window openings which were closed by the authorities of the Cattle Farm have been re-opened, as well as the doorways which had been similarly closed by modern brickwork, while some broken arches have been repaired. Certain similar modern work at the Jahaz Kothi has been removed. The TOMB OF ALI TAJIR at Hansi was being imperilled by the subsidence of numerous graves in its immediate vicinity. These have been filled in. The TOMB OF THE FOUR DIWANS at Hansi, the small tomb to the east, the west wall of the town of Hissar, and the GUJRI MAHAL have all received necessary repairs.

(II) KARNAL.—Useful work has been executed at the TOMB OF SHEIKH CHILLI at Thanesar while the hujra and retaining wall at the STONE MOSQUE (Pathar Masjid) at the same place have also been repaired. The KOS MINARS have been made secure at a cost of Rs. 601, and Rs. 1,758 have been expended on the OLD GATEWAYS AT GHARAUNDA in removing and clearing debris, repairing damaged masonry and cracks in the panels, underpinning, repairing and refixing old gates and removing vegetation. The work is still in progress.

(III) For ordinary repairs in the Rawalpindi, Attock, Gujrat, Jhang Shahpur, Gurdaspur, and Amritsar districts, see Appendix A.

(IV) In the Sialkot district the repairs of the dome of the MAQBARA ABDUL NABI at Kotli have been initiated and when completed the monument should be in a sound condition.

(V) Annual repairs to the graves in the BARADARI AT RAMNAGAR, Gujranwala district, have been carried out and the graves are generally in fair condition, but that of Subedar Major Mir Sher Ali, Sardar Bahadur, requ res a masonry pillar, a memorial tablet and a railing. A requisition to cover thei cost of this has been submitted.

(VI) THE TOMB AND MOSQUE OF TAHAR KHAN NAHAR at Sitpur in the Muzaffargarh district have received attention and Rs. 1,722-1-6 have been expended on the work which is still in progress.

(VII) LAHORE.—The road in front of the Shalamar Gardens has been metalled and trees planted along the side but only half the projected work has been carried out during the year under review. A kaccha track has been made leading from the Lahore Amritsar road to Ali Mardan Khan's tomb which seems likely to be enclosed shortly by the boundary wall of the North-Western Railway. The improved layout of the HAZURI BAGH with its new channels and fountains has necessitated special arrangements for drainage and Rs. 1,150 have been expended on this work.

At JAHANGIR'S TOMB, Shahdara, restoration has been carried out at a cost of Rs. 10,788. The special works included the repair inside and out of the enclosure wall, and the restoration of the Baradari on the north side which has been treated on similar lines to its counterpart on the south necessitating the removal of the modern additions, the relaying of the floors and the fitting of the back doorways with terracotta jalis to prevent ingress of cattle. Attention has also been paid to the numerous historical buildings of the LAHORE FORT. The removal of the modern partitions and the restoration of the marble jali balustrade at the SHISH MAHAL and the replacing of the missing curved portion of the parapet of the NAULAKHA BURJ, and the marble inlay work on this southern face and certain repairs on the northern face of one of the dalans have been carried out at a cost of Rs. 1,238. Conservation at the DIWAN-I-AMM has been extensive including the removal of the brick ramps and the modern steps, the exposing of the original sandstone dassa of the plinth, the replacing of the jali balustrades on the side of Jharokha and the throne and the missing portions of the chajja and the brackets supporting it. The modern parapet wall around the building has been dismantled and fillings of archways on the north-east and south-west have been removed. Three pillars being out of plumb have also been dismantled and rebuilt.

The front dalans of the BARI KHWABGAH were recently reroofed with rolled steel beams and panelled jack arches.

The brick pillars supporting the front arches exhibiting some weakness at the imposts causing hair cracks in the arches above, a verandah has been built in front of this monument. A marble jali screen has been replaced in one of the small upper windows at the back and has been backed by fine wire gauze to exclude bats and birds. As it has been proposed to convert the Bari Khwabgah into the armoury to house the collections now exhibited in the dalans on the south of the Shish Mahal, the openings have been fitted with good teak doors of appropriate Mughal design. The subterranean rooms to the west of this monument have been cleared of earth to the original floor level.

The ROMAN CATHOLIC CHAPEL and the Bari Khwabgah have been enclosed by a barbed wire fence five feet high. This is intended as a temporary protection only and will be removed as soon as the Military Authorities are able to evacuate the Court of Jahangir.

In addition to these special repairs Rs. 10,600 were expended on annual repairs to the Shalamar Gardens, Ali Mardan Khan's Tomb, Dai Anga's Tomb and Mosque, Shish Mahal, Moti Masjid. Roman Catholic Chapel, Bari Khwabgah, Choti Khwabgah, Diwan-i-Amm, Huzuri Bagh, Maharaja Ranjit Singh's Samadh, Asaf Khan's Tomb, Akbari Sarai and Nur Jahan's Tomb. This sum, it should be noted, also includes the pay of 48 chaukidars and 12 sweepers, the cost of the pumping engine at Shahdara, and the charges for the playing of the fountains at Shalamar and the Hazuri Bagh.

KOS MINARS.—In the last year's report page 45, appeared an account of the Kos Minars marking the old Mughal Road from Ajmer to Agra, and illustrations, Plate 44-45, giving types of these and other similar monuments. To Mr. J. Gorman, Assistant Engineer, Ajmer Sub-Division, I am indebted for the following note on the condition of Kos Minars nos. 9—14 which continue the list given in the previous report.

No. 9.—This Minar has been demolished and the villagers of Kuchalu point to a site near the north-west bastion of the old Fort now used as a kutchery.

No. 10.—This Minar has also been demolished. Villagers state it stood in the bed of a stream about three furlongs south of Kalianpura village.

No. 11.—This Minar stands one mile east of Judli village. A mason was engaged on repairs at my visit.

No. 12.—Adjoining the hut of a Kumhar, Bhairon by name, inhabitant of Ralaota village, Kishengarh State. The Minar has lately been repaired.

No. 13.—Due east of Ralaota village. Top damaged and in urgent need of masonry and plaster repairs. Repairs have been ordered.

No. 14.—Non-existent. The site is supposed to be in the river bed about two furlongs south-west of Harmara village.
